Meandering Along the Main Stem

WASH FAYETTE

A few days ago Wesley Barnhart, Madison Township farmer, was fishing along North Fork of Paint Creek in Madison township.

Fishing was none too good due to high waters, and he was thinking of giving up the effort to catch fish, when his attention was directed toward a hollow log on the bank a short distance away.

Some sizeable red fox puppies were playing about the log, so Wesley immediately had visions of cashing in on the animals, for which the county is paying $2.50 bounty.

When he approached the hollow log the puppies took refuge inside of it, so fastening up the opening, he proceeded to cut into the log.

He found an even dozen young foxes in the log, and later collected $30 bounty when he presented the feet of the foxes at the office of Sheriff Orland Hays.

"I guess that was a little more profitable than fishing," said Wesley, as he collected the bounty.

Communists Out Of French Cabinet

PARIS, May 5—(AP)—Premier Paul Ramadier faced an uncertain future today as he embarked upon the experiment of government without the powerful, labor-controlling communists party.

The socialist premier dropped the five communist ministers from his coalition cabinet last night after winning a vote of confidence in his wage-freezing policies, with the communist members dissenting.

No new ministers were added, incumbents among the socialists, MRP and radical socialist parties simply took over the communists' jobs. The most important portfolio changes gave radical socialist Yvon Lebellos the defense ministry—choicest post the communists had—and socialist Robert Lacoste the labor ministry.

It was not apparent, however, that the cabinet shake-up had brought any solution to the situation which prompted it. Approximately 3,200 Renault auto workers still were on strike demanding 10 francs per hour more pay. Communists were still backing the strike, which is why they refused to favor the vote of confidence.

Woman Held Has Amnesia

WASHINGTON, May 5—(AP)—A well dressed, middle aged woman, admitted to Garfield Hospital last night as an amnesia victim, told physicians today she thought her maiden name was Margaret Elizabeth Porter and that her address was Miller Road, Wickliffe Heights, O.

The woman said she was married but could not recall her married name. She was brought to the hospital by a taxicab driver but said she had no recollection how she got to Washington.

In Wickliffe, O., residents of Miller Road said a divorcee by the name of Mary Elizabeth Porter Patterson once lived there but moved five or six years ago to an unknown location.

Mt. Sterling Man Killed

COLUMBUS, May 5—(AP)—Burns suffered in an explosion and fire at his filling station were fatal yesterday to Ernest Gray, 36, of Mt. Sterling. He was brought to a hospital here following the accident Thursday.

Bicyclist Is Killed When Hit By Car

Two Others Injured in Traffic Accidents Near Here on Week End

One man was killed and two other persons injured critically, over the week end, as result of traffic accidents in Fayette County.

Chalmer Russell, 45, New Holland, was killed outright and Jean Massie, 14, was injured seriously about 9:45 P. M. Sunday night, when a bicycle on which they were riding was struck by an automobile driven by Alfred F. Fucal, of Cambridge.

William Esley, 21, Milford, was seriously hurt and Miss Pat Nelson, 20, Warren, was painfully hurt when Esley lost control of his auto at the Judy curve and the car tore down much of the fence in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cline Deere, on the CCC highway, two miles northeast of Washington C. H., at 6 A. M. Sunday.

Sheriff Orland Hays investigated both wrecks. The accident in which Russell met death occurred a short distance west of North Fork of Paint Creek on U. S. 22, about one mile west of New Holland.

Fucal was driving toward this city and Russell, riding a bicycle, with the girl on the handlebars, and with her other, Harry Massie, 16, riding another bicycle, were also headed west.

According to the story told to Sheriff Hays by Fucal and Harry Massie, an approaching car with brilliant lights blinded them, and the Fucal car struck the bicycle ridden by Russell and Jean Massie, before Fucal knew that anyone was in the road.

The bicycle was carried 33 steps before the auto was brought to a halt. Fucal said he was traveling about 50 miles per hour at the time.

Harry Massie realized the impending crash a few seconds before the car reached the riders, and probably escaped death by swerving into the ditch.

Apparently Russell also realized the impending crash just before it happened, and shoved the girl from the bicycle toward the ditch. Russell was killed outright.

Jean Massie was badly hurt and was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, in the Kirkpatrick and Son ambulance.

The Cox and Parrett ambulance brought Russell's body to this city, where it was being held pending funeral arrangements.

Russell is survived by a son who resides in Indiana, and was not immediately located.

Fucal was not detained, the avoidable and due to the blinding accident apparently having been unlighted of the approaching auto, it was stated.

Esley and Miss Warren had been attending a dance in Columbus, it seems, and were headed toward this city when the car went out of control at the Deere farm.

Esley was hurled free of the car but the auto overturned and pinned him beneath it, his body being partly crushed into the soft earth of the lawn. He was taken to the office of Dr. J. H. Persinger, in the Gerstner ambulance, given treatment and then taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital in the same ambulance.

Esley was unconscious and had sustained possible internal injuries.

Miss Nelson was also brought to Dr. Persinger's office in the ambulance, given treatment, and sent home.

Argument Brings Murder

HAMILTON, May 5—(AP)—Harry Farris, 31-year-old laborer, has been charged with murder in the fatal shooting of John Jar-nickie, 46, Police Sgt. Stanley Werlein reported yesterday. Jar-nickie was shot during an argument in his home.

Jews and Arabs Are Set Free in Mass Delivery

Big Manhunt Spreads Over Holy Land After Underground Coup

JERUSALEM, May 5—(AP)—

British troops and police scoured northern Palestine today in a great manhunt for 227 Jew and Arab prisoners still at liberty after a mass delivery from Acre prison engineered yesterday by the Jewish underground.

Sixteen persons—including 11 members of the underground brand who blasted a two-yard hole in the wall of the ancient citadel—were killed in the break, described as one of the biggest in modern times.

A total of 251 of the 555 inmates of the old gray-walled prison north of Haifa participated in the dash for freedom, but five-four Jews and an Arab—were killed before they could make good their escape. Nineteen—eight of them wounded—were captured within a few hours. Twenty-three others were wounded in the exchange of gunfire that accompanied the break.

At least nine of the underground raiders were reported captured uninjured.

All villages in a 120-mile area were placed under close surveillance and highways were blocked every few miles by gun-bristling blockades at which all travelers were checked and all cars searched.

The manhunt, greatest in the history of Palestine, reached historic Acre itself to Tiberius on the sea of Galilee and north into the Jewish colony area at the headwaters of the Jordan river. Authoritative sources reported, meanwhile, that an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the delivery had been launched on a high level.

A total of 120 Jews and 131 Arabs were included in the 251 prisoners who took part in the break. Of these 80 were described as members of the Jewish underground serving sentences as terrorists.

Football Tickets At OSU Get New Priority System

COLUMBUS, May 5—(AP)—Ohio State University today announced a new priority system of football ticket sales for next fall's games and a cut in the number of season books offered for public sale.

Under the new plan, students, faculty members and university employees, OSU alumni association members and univerity benefactors, fans of the visiting team and the general public will get tickets in that order.

OSU trustees said only 8,000 season books for side seats and 4,500 for the north end will be available to the public.

There will be no price increases.

DAYTON, May 5—(AP)—Mrs. Mary T. Zimmers, 87, of Dayton, died yesterday of injuries received when she was struck by a street car on Friday.

Woman's 13-year Freedom Ends With Arrest in Portsmouth

TOLEDO, May 5—(AP)—A Toledo woman today awaited return to the Ohio State Reformatory at Marysville, from which she escaped nearly 13 years ago.

The freedom of Mrs. Margaret Ann Martin, 39, came to an end Saturday afternoon when she was arrested by Sgt. Margaret Slater and Policewoman Mary Guiley as she was leaving a store, where she had been employed as a saleswoman.

Mrs. Martin who had led a crime-free life since her escape, was traced through a picture recognized by store detectives.

On Sept. 22, 1934, Mrs. Martin fled the Marysville reformatory, where she had been registered as Alpha Hirst, alias Margaret Wynn. She had been sentenced in Portsmouth, O., in 1931 to 1 to 20 years for issuing a forged check.

The only other entry on her record said she had been placed on probation for two years earlier in 1931 in Toledo after she and two men were accused of working a check swindle against Toledo florists.

Housing Program for Veterans Hits Zoning Ordinance Snag

The proposed program for veterans housing relief started by the board of Fayette County commissioners recently, has struck a snag but the county commissioners declare that they will find some means of proceeding without too much delay.

The city of Washington C. H. recently rejected the county commissioners application for permits to construct four small houses for veterans on a lot 133 by 72 feet, corner of Sycamore and Elm Streets, because there would not be sufficient ground for each house to meet the requirements of the building code under the city's zoning ordinance, which became effective some time ago.

As a result the Fayette County commissioners Monday prepared

Hospital Epidemic Claims 15 Babies

PHILADELPHIA, May 5—(AP)—

With 15 infants deaths already recorded from an outbreak of gastro enteritis in Allentown, Pa., Temple University Hospital said today that danger of additional fatalities among 13 infant sufferers from the disease has "considerably lightened."

Five of the deaths occurred over the weekend, four here and one in Allentown, and a responsible spokesman for Allentown Sacred Heart Hospital, declining to be quoted by name, said 10 deaths had occurred there between March 15 and last Friday when the decision was made to close the Sacred Heart maternity ward for 10 days.

Following that decision, 17 infants were brought to Temple Hospital and placed in a special isolation ward. Extraordinary precautions are being taken to prevent further spread of the disease here, the Temple spokesman emphasized.

The remaining 13 infant patients here are "considerably improved," Temple hospital reported.

Bloody Truck Still Mystery

MEDINA, May 5—(AP)—Harold

Keller, 43-year-old Wadsworth, O., grocery clerk missing since his blood-stained truck was found Friday, returned home today and reported he had been in Indiana, Medina County Sheriff Charles Williams said.

He reported that Keller arrived by bus and said the blood in the truck resulted from a cut on his finger.

The officer declined to comment further, but said his investigation was continuing.

He previously had expressed belief the man had met with foul play at the hands of a hitch-hiker. Keller's abandoned truck was found on the highway west of Barborton.

UAW Calls Strike Vote

CLEVELAND, May 5—(AP)—Some 4,000 CIO-United Auto Workers at the Fisher Body plant of General Motors Corp. have authorized a special meeting for a strike vote, unless a negotiations session with company representatives Wendys produces "satisfactory progress," union officials reported today.

In the Youngstown accident, Grady G. Griffin, 21, of Warren, suffered a possible fractured leg, lacerations and abrasions.

The proposed agreement announced by the state department calls for a joint United States administration of its terms. Officials said that the actual administration of the bases themselves would be worked out in further negotiations with Panama.

The increases are based on a 40-hour week. Those working schedules under 40 hours will receive proportionately smaller increases, the federation said.

The federation said employees earning less than $46.20 a week will receive an increase of $4.85; those earning $200 to $310 a month, $5 more a week; over $310, a raise of 7 percent.

Three Barefoot Prisoners Escape From Jail at Jackson--Not Caught

JACKSON, May 5—(AP)—Three prisoners—two of them barefoot—escaped last night from the Jackson County Jail by a combination of door-forcing and ledge-walking, Sheriff Stanley Lewis reported today.

All three still were at large today. Sheriff Lewis identified the escapees as Roscoe Deer, 27, Flat-woods, Greenup County, Ky.; Carl Seagraves, 20, Powellton, Fayette County, W. Va., and Perry Bennett, 20, Jackson.

Seagraves and Bennett, said the sheriff, were without shoes because a previous attempt to escape had been detected. The two, with Fred Elkins, 25, Jackson, were placed in the jail's "bullpen" enclosure.

The trio escaped, Sheriff Lewis explained, by sawing a bar in the bullpen, crawling through a corridor, prying a door with a bar and slipping into the attic through a trapdoor.

From the attic the three escapees went through a window onto a ledge, walked the ledge to the rear of the building and lowered themselves to the ground on knotted blankets.

The jail break was discovered at 9:30 P. M. last night.

Elkins, the sheriff said, refused to leave with the men, preferring to stay in the bullpen in his bare feet.

All three fugitives were awaiting the April term of the Jackson County Grand Jury. Deer was charged with robbing a Hitchcock poker party about two miles south of Oak Hill in Jackson County, and Seagraves and Bennett were being held in connection with an auto theft.

The United States proposed to Panama today a new agreement for defense of the canal providing for continued use of military bases on territory of the republic of Panama.

Manhunt Ends In Mountains; Details Lacking

4 Relatives Slain By Man Who Was In Trouble in Ohio

WAYNE, W. Va., May 5—(AP)—

Prosecuting Attorney Floyd Harrison announced that Oliver Hurley, hunted by a posse since the killing of four relatives near Fort Gay, was slain today by a special investigator from his office.

"We don't have the details yet," said Harrison, "but an undertaker has left here to return the body."

The prosecutor added that his information came from Constable Boyd Napier, who said the killing occurred in the bedroom of a home not far from the scene of the shootings yesterday.

Sheriff Robert L. Drown said the dead included Hurley's three-year-old son, Jay Hurley, shot four times; his estranged wife, Mrs. Susie Billups Hurley, 34, shot three times; his brother, William Hurley, 45, shot six times, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nora Belle Skeens, 32, shot twice.

Two other children, including Hurley's nine-month-old daughter and 18-month-old nephew, were wounded, the sheriff added.

He named the children as Aileen Hurley and Lawrence Skeens, patients at Louisa, Ky., General Hospital where a nurse said Lawrence's condition was critical.

Aileen suffered a slight flesh wound.

Trooper R. D. Trumbo of the state police said the posse had found no trace of Hurley in an all-night search of this West Virginia-Kentucky border district.

Members of the posse were instructed to move carefully by Sheriff Drown who said Hurley was believed to have ammunition left.

The shootings, attributed by Sheriff Drown to a fit of "mad jealousy" over Hurley's estrangement from his wife, broke the Sunday quiet on isolated Taber's Creek, and in nearby Wildcat Hollow.

Deputy Sheriff Delbert Shy said Hurley, who returned recently from Marion, O., where he was employed as a day laborer, appeared at the cabin home of his mother-in-law on Taber's Creek, where his wife and son were slain.

Mrs. Skeens fled to her home nearby, taking with her Lawrence and Aileen, and barricaded herself inside, Shy reported.

With Aileen still in her arms, she was killed and the two children were wounded by a burst of gunfire through a window, the deputy sheriff said.

Afterwards, he added, Hurley made his way to Wildcat Hollow where his brother was slain, apparently without warning while he worked underneath his car.

TRouble In Ohio

MARION, May 5—(AP)—Court records showed today that a man identified as James Oliver Hurley was arrested here April 12 on the complaint of neighbors that he had beaten his 15-year-old son.

Arraigned in juvenile court, Hurley was given a six-months suspended sentence on the condition that he take his children back to his wife in West Virginia.

White Collar Jobs Given Pay Boost

PITTSBURGH, May 5—(AP)—A contract granting pay increases to 15,000 white collar workers was signed today by the Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the Federation of Westinghouse Independent salaried unions.

Stassen Gives Balkan Views

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, May 5—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen, although saying he favors the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program, declared today it would be a "tragic" mistake for the United States to arm all-out offensive against guerrilla opponents of the present Greek government.

At a news conference where he discussed the program, the former Minnesota governor also termed the general doctrine back of President Truman's policy a negative

He endorsed the aid program in the form approved by the senate but hopes that military expenditures will not be such as to bring about a full scale civil war in Greece.

Instead, Stassen said, the United States should concentrate on attempting to build a stable and prosperous regime in the valleys of Greece which by its very prosperity would weaken the appeal of communism to the mountain guerrillas.

A reporter asked Stassen if he opposes the global implications of President Truman's proposal to support "free peoples" wherever they are threatened from within and from without by communism.

"I recognize the futility of a negative policy of simply being against something," Stassen replied. "It is imperative that America adopt a positive, constructive approach to the economic and political problems of the people of the world."

"Then you consider the Truman Doctrine a negative one?" A

Glove Factory Here Visited by More than 500

"Open House" Proves Interesting and Educational

A continuous number of people were shown through the new Jackson Glove Co. factory on Temple Street, here Sunday as the plant held "open house," prompted, said President Frank Jackson, by many requests to see the new building, which has been occupied since December.

The plant was open for public inspection from 2 to 5 P. M., with several guides to show the visitors through the four-story building and number of workers demonstrating the machines in an interesting way.

Although the company is still going to complete its layout with 60 new sewing machines, the factory is operating on an almost full-production basis. The company employs over 150 people and keeps several 100,000 yards of material on hand. In the sewing room, 100 power sewing machines of several different kinds are operated.

One of the 120,000 pairs of gloves manufactured every week in the plant was given to each visitor. The gloves manufactured there are of several different kinds.

Mr. Jackson said that this building, which was designed and constructed by the A. L. Rhoades Construction Co., is the first of its kind in the country. The offices of the plant are decorated in flexwood, which has not been used in any other building in the city, said Mr. Jackson.

Those who were on hand to explain and show the new building to the public were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson, Ormond Devey, vice-president; Miss Ruth Sexton, secretary and Mrs. Helen Dunton, who showed visitors through the offices. Kenneth Harney, Clark Penyl, Marvin Thornburg, Charles Cooper, Harry Hysler, Forest Callender, Gene Stanforth, Henry Hurd and Ronald Cornwell, plant manager, and assistant treasurer showed people through the factory and demonstrated the machinery.

The new plant was started before the war, when the rear of the building was built. The company was not able to complete the front half of the building until last December, when they moved in completely.

In the office, there were a number of baskets of flowers, prepared by friends of the company.

Stassen's Views

Reporter asked.

On military aid for Greece, Stassen had this to say:

"We should not finance, arm or advise an all-out military offensive against the Greeks in the mountains in opposition to the government. If we do that it will involve a tragic, ineffective and unsuccessful spilling of the blood of Greek versus Greek in an attempt by military means to settle the form of government and the economy inside Greece.

Stassen, an avowed candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, met with reporters after releasing over the week-end the transcript of an interview he had April 9 with Soviet Premier Stalin.

The Russian leader was quoted as saying, among other things, that the U. S. R. "want to cooperate."

Capitol Hill reaction to Stassen's reports on what Stalin told him was generally along the line that this country would like to see deeds bearing out his words.

"I do not want to be cynical," Senator Hatch (D-NM) told a reporter, "but I do want actual cooperation on many fronts—including the United Nations—to be demonstrated by deeds and actions before I can place full credence in mere words."

This transcript quoted Stalin as saying that while there are "big differences of views among us" over the future control of atomic energy "international control and inspection will be established in

Scholarship Tests Taken By 53 Pupils

High School Pupils From Here Given Exams at OSU

The 53 Washington C. H. High School students, who placed highest in the city scholarship tests, went to Columbus Saturday to participate in the state-wide eliminating contest at Derby Hall on the OSU campus for division, district and state scholarship awards.

The tests, which lasted one hour, will be machine-scored at OSU and the results announced later, said Stephen Brown, high school principal. Results sent to the school participating will give the school's standing in the division, district and state according to subject classification and also their standing in these areas regardless of classification.

The first 10 high-ranking students in each division and district and in the state, will be given certificates of award by the Ohio State Scholarship committee.

The students who went to Columbus and their classifications were the following: general science, David Elliott, Norman Burris and Tommy Christopher; Latin 1, Robin Newhouse, Mary Belles and Barbara Browning; algebra 1, Anne McFadden, Ethel Bower and Donna Cyrus; English 9, Lois Cherryholmes, Sue Paul and Dixie DeWees; biology, Joyce Terrell, Robert Parker and Judith Acton; Latin 2, Roberta Sexton, Betty Swayne and Bonnie Pinkerton; and world history, Peggy Miller, Robert Thompson and Melan VanMeter.

Other subjects and students were geometry, William Lovell, James Moore and Eugene Sagar; English 10, Cindy Harper, Helen Whitaker and Marie Ribey; chemistry, Arthur Peacock, Fred Mitchell and Harriett Hamilton; American history, Arden Hill, Paul Grimm and Robert Willis; French 1, Lora Lee Enslin and Florence Torbett; Spanish 1, Eugene Keppeler and William Schlechter; English 11, Martha Engle, Sally Streator and Joan Browning; senior social studies, Richard Willis and Wilma Lee; physics, Charles Allen and Paul Kirchner; French 2, Kathryn Foster, Howard McDonald and Carol Ann Gidding; English 12, Mary Lorane Boylan, Martha Huff and Clara Belle McKenzie; and bookkeeping 1, Mary Vrettos and Ruth City.

Mary Twining, who was to have entered the French 1 competitions, was ill with the mumps and unable to attend.

The Connecticut senator observed. Andrei Gromyko, Russian representative on the United Nations security council, has opposed American proposals for control of atomic developments through international inspection and regulation.

Senator Lodge (R-Mass), a member of the foreign relations committee, said he hopes Stalin's future acts "will give effect" to his words.

of A. E. Weatherly, three members of the city planning commission, Walter Rettig, George Pensyl and Mrs. Gilbert Adams, and ex-officio member, Winston W. Hill, city manager. It is expected that this board will hold a hearing on the commissioners' appeal soon after it is received.

The veterans' building program in this locality was given a start recently in this community when the county commissioners made an arrangement with W. D. Haines, a returned veteran and contractor, to erect six new four room cottages with bath rooms, which together with the cost of the lots purchased by the county commissioners would use up approximately all the $18,500 available for veterans housing relief allocated to this county by a state grant.

In addition to the lot purchased on Sycamore and Elm Streets from Richard Ramsey, a lot estimated to be sufficient to build two other such cottages was purchased from the Walter Stambaugh estate, located on Broadway Street.

Haines, the contractor, had stated that he expected to complete all six houses by October 1, at the rate of one per month, provided the first one was approved by the commissioners.

It was originally agreed by the county commissioners that the selection of veterans families for these properties which are to be made available at modest rents, is

Former County Treasurer Hurt

Simon Stuckey's Auto Hit by Car

Simon Stuckey, of Madison Mills, former Fayette County treasurer, sustained a severe scalp wound and other injuries about 10:30 A. M. Monday, when he drove his auto into the Columbus Highway and was struck by a car driven by John R. Holaday, of Covington, Ky.

Both cars were badly damaged, but Holaday escaped with bruises.

Stuckey was cared for by Dr. James E. Rose, at his home in Madison Mills.

Deputy Sheriff Guy Carter investigated the accident.

Fright Too Much For 4-H Club Calf

When the 4-H calf club members reached the Dale Wilson farm on the Sabina and Greenfield Road, Sunday afternoon, while making a tour of 4H calf club projects in the county, a calf owned by Hugh Wilson became so frightened that it leaped several fences, was finally corralled in a neighbor's barn lot, but died of fright after a halter was placed upon it, and it was being returned to its quarters.

Grain Markets

CHICAGO, May 5—(AP)—Strength in oats featured grain dealings on the Board of Trade today. The May delivery was up nearly 2 cents at times and deferred contracts displayed a firm undertone.

Short-covering boosted the May wheat contract, but more distance deliveries were not able to advance much in view of an additional optimistic crop reports. Corn eased on heavy receipts of cash grain, although purchases on a to-arrive basis were small.

The strength in May oats was a reflection of comparatively high prices paid for the cash grain the spot market, where contract grades are selling at a premium over the May delivery. Number one heavy white oats brought 1.00 1/4 a bushel.

Deferred oats deliveries were helped by the late spring, which is expected to cut acreage seeded to the grain.

Wheat closed 1 cent low to 2 1/4 higher, May $2.64 1/4, corn was unchanged to 1/4 higher, May $1.61 1/4-1/4, and oats were 1/4-1 1/4 higher, May 60 1/2-61.

In The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, May 5—(AP)—If you've lost track of the telephone strike, here's an ABC bringing it up to date.

The strike started April 7. More than 300,000 workers walked out or stayed away from work, refusing to cross strikers' picket lines. Several thousands have reached settlements and gone back to work. But the unions claim more than 200,000 still are out.

Local dial systems haven't suffered much. The big shutdown has been in the long-distance and toll lines and local manual service.

The negotiations started last January between the unions and the companies. The companies mostly are part of the Bell system.

At first, among a number of demands, the unions asked for a flat increase of $12 a week for all telephone workers.

Those workers include operators, construction and maintenance men, engineers, draftsmen, janitors, clerks, installers, factory workers. Later the unions cut their demand down to $6 a week.

This cut followed a pattern set by big CIO unions, like the auto and steel workers. Without striking, they settled for an increase of about $5 a week.

Negotiations are going on between unions and companies here and elsewhere. Four are taking place here.

Of the four here most interest, perhaps, centers on the talks between the long-distance union and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's long-lines division.

That company late yesterday offered the long-distance union an increase of $2 to $4 a week. The union turned it down. The talks continued.

Settlements reached in Washington would be important. They might hasten settlements elsewhere, by setting a pattern for the others.

Here's the score on the telephone unions and settlements:

The National Federation of telephone workers has 49 unions with a membership of about 336,000. They are not part of the AFL or CIO.

Because 10 of the 49 unions still had contracts in effect, only 39 of the 49 went on strike.

Those 39 have a membership of about 287,000 workers. They struck. Many of the other 49, 000 in the other 10 unions stayed away from work by refusing to cross the strikers' picket lines.

About 60,000 other telephone workers—members of unions not in the federation—also struck, for the same demands as the union workers, or refused to cross picket lines.

The strike occurred in one way or another in every state except Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Virginia, Indiana and Montana.

(In Maryland the workers struck but have gone back to work, pending a final settlement.)

About 1,000 workers in Rochester, N. Y., Fort Dodge, Ia., and Sherman, Tex., have settled for an average raise of $6 a week and returned to work.

In New York one independent union, not connected with the federation, has settled for a raise of $4 a week and returned to work.

Two other New York unions have reached the same settlement but stayed away from their jobs, refusing to cross the picket line of still another New York union which hasn't made a settlement.

Last night three unions, affiliated with the federation, agreed to settle with the Illinois Bell Telephone Company for $4 a week if their rank and file would accept.

Tours Being Planned By Junior Club Members

Tours through factories and public buildings were planned for this summer by the Junior Sew-It-Is 4-H Club at a meeting held at the home of Audrey Scholls.

The girls in this club made several similar tours last summer. Miss Scholls, who is president of the club, served refreshments, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Donald Scholls. The next meeting will be held at the home of Barbara Greer on Tuesday.

Ernie Pyle Sensed the End On Last Visit To Alma Mater

(EDITORS NOTE: Hal Boyle is at Indiana University this week giving the first of the annual lectures for the Indiana University Ernie Pyle Memorial.)

By HAL BOYLE

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—The sad little man with the international name came back after twenty-one years.

He was still listed in Indiana University student records as "Pyle, Ernest Taylor," but millions knew him as "Ernie Pyle."

It was a beautiful Indiana summer day in November, 1944 five months and several thousand miles away from the isolated Pacific Island where Ernie met death, but it was the day when his life really reached full circle.

When she stood on the summit, and what came after was only repetition and anti-climax.

Ernie had known with queer fatalistic insight which was part of his unique genius that he would never live through the war. He lacked the consolation of the martyr who approaches death consoled by the faith that his cause would ultimately triumph. Ernie hated war with the uttermost intensity of his sensitive soul. He hoped that a permanent peace would follow, but he felt no certainty of it. He knew only the surety that he himself would die.

He was a deeply troubled and unhappy man. The tens of thousands of dollars rolling in to him in book royalties meant nothing to him. Money never did. In his personal life he was still misfortune's darling.

It was then that his alma mater invited Ernie to come back to the intellectual home of his youth and receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters—the first degree of this kind granted by the university in 125 years.

For twenty-one years Ernie had avoided coming back to this campus which set the pattern of his life—a career of mixed achievement and frustration.

Ernie was a student leader whose lifelong peculiar combination of self-confidence and self-doubting shyness led some prophet of the Class of 1923 to describe him in the class annual as one who:

"Still wears the same old hat, is still the same good fellow. 'Lo, this man's name heads all the lot.'"

Yet one of the reasons Ernie left the university six months before he could have completed his degree was a broken romance with a red-haired co-ed.

Ernie wrote fondly in after years of Indiana University, but could never bring himself to return. He wanted to keep his memories intact. He had a complex about seeing the campus changed.

"I have an idea I actually will come back some time—but it won't be this trip," he wrote his classmate, John Sempel, head of the department of journalism, in 1940.

When he finally did come back—feeling in his heart he would soon be dead—another old college mate, President Herman B. Wells, was there to hand him the university's honors.

Ernie—who previously had turned down opportunities to make a fortune over the radio—wouldn't make a speech. Just before he handed him his degree he leaned over to President Wells and asked:

"Hermie, do I take my hat off or keep it on when I get the degree?"

"The red-haired sweetheart of his youth—now married—was there, and Ernie gave her a big boyish kiss and had a private half-hour talk with her over old times."

Ernie left then. Later he wrote

New Fire Truck Will Be Shown Tuesday, May 20

Jeffersonville and Township Seeking New Equipment

A public demonstration of new type fire-fighting equipment will be sponsored by the Jeffersonville Township Trustees and the council and mayor at Jeffersonville at 7 P. M. Tuesday, May 20.

The equipment which will be shown is a fire truck built by the Central Fire Truck Corp. of St. Louis. This truck is a 500 gallon a minute pumper triple combination, centrifugal type.

In addition, the truck carries 600 gallons of water to be used for rural fire fighting. It also carries an auxiliary pump capable of pumping 250 gallons a minute, and has fog nozzles and special lights.

Jeffersonville already has a Central pumper, which has been used for over 20 years, but because of its age, it has been condemned. To lighten insurance rates, said the trustees, a new fire truck is wanted.

The Farm Bureau councils of Jefferson Township are also helping to sponsor the demonstration. Township trustees are Clyde Rings, Lester Allen and Neal Conner.

The Bear, the ship which Byrd took to the Antarctic on his first expedition, was first used by the U. S. Navy to go to the relief of the Greely Arctic expedition in 1884.

Good News For Folks Who Suffer From

- ✓ STOMACH GAS
- ✓ SOUR FOOD TASTE
- ✓ ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles, else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Retailing and High Prices

The argument that industrial and business profits are now so great that prices can be reduced and wages raised needs a great deal of clarification. The fact is, as the various indexes show, that the profit picture varies tremendously from industry to industry—some basic lines are earning extremely moderate returns, and excessive profits exist in but a limited number of fields. Furthermore, the whole weight of historical evidence indicates that arbitrary wage increases are invariably accompanied by general price increases and that, in the long run, no one gains. Lastly, the argument rests on the assumption that present business volume will continue indefinitely, which is a hazardous assumption indeed. There are very definite signs now that consumer resistance, plus the natural reluctance of retailers to buy goods for which there may be no market, may force reduced production of a long list of goods.

If anyone believes that business does not wish to reduce prices he should make a brief study of the present day activities of the retail industry. Many stores are frankly concerned over the price trend and are determined to do something about it. To this end, retail buyers are combing the markets in search of better qualities for less money. The old-fashioned bargain sale is again appearing. Operating overhead is being shaved wherever possible, and the savings passed on to the buyer. Retail leaders are the first to point out that spiraling prices are a peril to the American economy.

Retailing, of course, works under fixed limitations. If wholesale prices go up, retail prices must follow the trend. No store can operate without a profit. But the fact that retailing of all kinds, big and little, realizes that the price problem is of consideration today, is one of the best signs on the horizon. Full understanding of a problem is the primary step toward its solution.

What Free Enterprise Means

President Truman recently gave a good description of what the free competitive enterprise system means when he said: "Under that system each man is free to go where he likes, to follow the calling of his choice, and to be rewarded in proportion to the productivity of the effort or the property he contributes."

That is an extremely accurate definition, and it covers a great deal of ground in a very few words. Under free enterprise, the man who invests capital as well as the man who invests his labor in an enterprise is entitled to whatever reward he is able to earn. Under free enterprise, every man is entitled to pursue any lawful undertaking, free of dictatorship and coercion by capital, labor or government. Under free enterprise, the freedom of the individual must be inviolate.

Carrying the definition farther, it obviously means that government shall not unnecessarily interfere in the affairs of its citizens. Its function is to establish and enforce a set of rules to fit the conduct of our economic life—and then to permit the players in the game to do whatever they

A Letter from Washington

By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON—As the 50 men—like the true gourmets they are—sit down to dine, they tuck a napkin under their chin, frown on politics, religion and personal affairs as topics of conversation.

Smoking is prohibited until after dessert. Though six kinds of wine are served, to become tipsy would be a great boner.

Meeting for the first time since before the war, they are "Les Amis d'Escoffier," friends and admirers of the "greatest chef of all time," August Escoffier. He was one-time chef to Kaiser Wilhelm II, chief of the Savoy and Carlton hotels in London and the Ritz in Paris.

"You've heard of his Peach Melba and Poire Sarah Bernhardt," asks Kurt Schiffler, Vice president and managing director of a (the Raleigh) hotel, who organized the Washington society in March 1938.

The group meets every spring and fall. The finest that the kitchen affords is brought forth but served with the great simplicity that marked a typical Escoffier dinner.

"Women are not invited to these affairs."

"Women can make fine home-cooked dinners," explains Schiffler, "but now we're talking about a great art. Women are too fussy about their cooking. They don't have the same professional touch that men do."

To drink wine properly, according to Schiffler, is a "greater piece of art than falling in love or giving a girl her first kiss."

Before the dinner, together with all sorts of hot and cold appetizers, is served an aperitif or "palate-teaser"—dubonnet or vermouth.

The eight-course dinner begins with a special double-strength beef "Consomme des Diplomates," flavored with the fresh leaf of the herb chervil on top.

The fish course is a moussé of sole in a ring, encircling tender frog legs poiled in wine with herbs.

This is a recipe of Schiffler and a former chef of the hotel.

"Baby hot-house lamb," weighing 15 pounds at the most, is served as the main course. The chest, leg and loin are rolled in parsley, and flavored with tarragon. Accompanying the meat are new potatoes rolled in mint, french endive braised with little new peas and a touch of onion.

Now, in order to give the stomach a rest, a special sherbet flavored with real creme de menthe is served. Then on again to the cold dish for which Escoffier was famed—"Les Poulardes rose de mai," cold capon stuffed with goose livers.

This served with a salad of lettuce and fresh herbs and followed by ice cream with raspberry sauce topped with spun sugar. There are more wines, then cakes, coffee and brandy.

Eugene Meyer, owner of the Washington Post and one of the prominent guests invited to the affair, declared it was the "most important event since V-J day."

Hints on Etiquette

The keynote of all good letter writing is simplicity. Do not use flowery language, but write as you talk, without effusion or affectation.

Today's Horoscope

A birthday anniversary today means that you are imaginative, almost visionary. You take pride in being well dressed; like flattery, and enjoy society. Responsibility does not mean much to you. However, you are a charming person, pleasant to live with, and should have a happy home life. This day's influences are adverse. Some action taken will probably bring regrets, or create a good deal of work or worry. Broken promises, denials and unfavorable news are probable. In your next year you will experience both good and ill fortune. Increased finances, expected and unexpected, and success in military, naval and legal matters will be somewhat offset by adverse love or domestic activities. Born today a child will be fortunate, especially if following a military, nautical, medical, or ultra-modern career. Love troubles are foreseen.

may please within those rules. If a man loses, he must accept the loss. If he wins, he has a right to the gain.

Finally, under this or any workable definition of free enterprise, government must keep out of business. Socialized enterprise and free enterprise cannot long exist side by side. The first will swallow the other, and then all basic freedoms will be lost. That fact is implicit in President Truman's fine statement.

Time for a Showdown

One remarkable argument made against labor legislation designed to correct the worst abuses of labor leaders drunk with power is that this would lead to more industrial strife, and stir up dangerous discord within the country.

If that is actually the case, the sooner we deal with it the better. If a few labor czars feel that they can pit themselves against the government and the clearcut demands of the people, it is time for a showdown.

No labor law seriously proposed would destroy the real rights of the workingman. None of them would deprive him of the power to bargain for higher wages, better factory conditions, or prevent him from joining a union if he so desired. But what some of the proposed laws would do, like the measure approved by a house committee, is to deprive labor leaders of the "right" to dictate to their members under threat of loss of their jobs, to defy the government, and to callously disregard the welfare of the country.

A recent series of articles by Phelps Adams, chief of the Washington bureau of the New York Sun, should be read nationally. They tell of labor "goon squads," which resort to extortion, bribery, mayhem, arson and murder. They tell of "unscrupulous union leadership, of broken contracts and of an insatiable lust for power." They tell of a war between labor unions in which the citizens of a great city were the "victims of a campaign of terrorism and anarchy unparalleled since . . . Al Capone." They cite many examples, with every statement fully documented.

Labor leaders violently oppose proposals which would correct such abuses. They don't want justice—they want license. They want to be able to make workers, industry and the government dance to whatever tune they call. They want to be bigger and stronger than the American people. It is high time for a showdown.

It might just be that, for a while, belligerent nations will conspire to keep the peace.

Acne in Adolescent Years

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ACNE or pimples is likely to be the worst trial the adolescent boy or girl has to face. Fortunately, though it can cause real distress during the maturing period, this skin disorder tends to clear up around the age of eighteen.

That should be some consolation to the afflicted youngster and he should find more in the fact that proper care will do much to lessen, if not entirely banish it.

Exact Cause Unknown

We do not know the exact cause of acne but Dr. Clara M. Warren of London, believes the use of excessive fats in the diet or the improper use of fat by the body may have a good deal to do with it, particularly where it is accompanied by seborrhea.

Seborrhea is a scaly eruption which often occurs around the nose, and ears and on the scalp. A lack of thyroid secretion may also be a contributing cause for the seborrhea. Long continued fatigue may also be a factor. In such cases the scalp is greasy and the skin shiny.

Sleep and Diet

In treating this stage of acne the patient should get at least nine hours of sleep at night and have a well-balanced diet. Fried foods, chocolate, ice-cream and cream should be avoided.

Thyroid extract is recommended in small doses given in the morning and at night. The skin is treated by gentle sponging with warm, soapy water followed by rinsing with warm water. The hair is washed once a week with a mild soap. Sulfur lotions may help to get rid of the eruption. All of this treatment is important because the seborrhea contributes to the development of acne as well as to the occurrence of blackheads.

Treating Blackheads

In treating the blackheads, Dr. Warren recommends that the face be moistened with warm water; and then a fine coating of soap be applied. Next, with a rubber sponge, pressure is put on the skin, and then relaxed. This process is repeated a number of times. Following this, the skin is rinsed with warm water and gently dried.

Such treatment will in many cases get rid of the blackheads. If not, they may have to be squeezed out or even surgical removal may be necessary. Sometimes ultraviolet ray treatments may help to get rid of the blackheads.

In treating the pimples themselves, those which have pus in them may be opened and the infected material drained out. A spray of penicillin or of sulfathiazole may be tried. X-ray treatments are also useful. Various ointments are also helpful such as those containing sulfur and salicylic acid. Of course, the physician will decide in each case which of these preparations should be employed.

SYNOPSIS

The wedding of vivacious Diane Tarrell to Bill Arden, serious young lawyer, was an important event in Grand-harbor society, though some of its more conservative members doubted the wisdom of the groom's choice of bride. Bill belonged to one of the town's oldest families, while Diane's father, wealthy J. Emmet Tarrell, and Paula, her step-mother, were comparative newcomers, with little or no background. It was rumored, too, that J. Emmet had come by his huge fortune rather questionably. Among the guests was Page Winston, who had been a law student with Bill since childhood. Diane, about to throw her bridal bouquet, saw Page quietly standing in the background, and deliberately tossed the flowers to her. Rufus Kent, newspaperman and Bill's former roommate at Harvard, noted Page's embarrassment, and followed her to the terrace. Introducing himself, he explained that he has come to Grandharbor to work on The Post, and voiced the hope they would be friends.

CHAPTER THREE

AT THAT moment Diane and Bill were driving through the dark toward Avon Inn, fifty miles out in the country, where they would spend the night.

"Everything went off all right, didn't it, Bill? You see, it's my first wedding. I couldn't know, but I did my best!"

But it had been miles back when she had asked that of Bill. Now her gayety, her excitement had stilled; she sat close to Bill, her bare head against his arm. Her breathing made a soft little sound.

"Bill," she said suddenly. "Go faster! I wish we were flying! It's so wonderful, the two of us, married!"

Bill did not go faster. He slowed the car to almost a stop, put his arm around her and drew her closer to him. "My own!" His voice broke under his realization of actual possession.

"The Reverend Sylvester Cameron made it sound like a big order, didn't he?"

"Not too big, darling." His arm tightened. She was so little in its hold, so newly precious. His hand cupped her cheek.

"To love, to honor, to keep—" she murmured. Then she straightened, her chin lifting under his fingers. "It'll be easy, Bill, if we keep everything, everyone out of it!"

They did not return to Grandharbor on the twentieth.

Diane had begged Bill to stay for a fancy dress ball at the Bermuda hotel. "But it isn't just the dance, Bill! It's—we haven't had enough of this. We're so close, here. There's nothing—"

"Dean may have a lot to say about that! There's the Staples case waiting my return!"

But he yielded, in the spell himself of the fragrant, sundrenched days, and murmuring nights, each giving new measure to their intimacy. He called to Gregory Dean that they were taking a later sailing, to his mother, to J. Emmet. Diane stood close at his elbow while he wrote out the cables and he was more aware of her bright, blown hair against his sleeve than of what he was doing.

In Grandharbor Mrs. Arden read her message with a quiet satisfaction. Another week there would do Bill good! He worked so hard, he was so very serious about his work. It must be Diane's influence, she reflected smiling a little, for she knew well that Bill wasn't given to changing his plans, once he had made them.

J. Emmet growled over this. He had to go out to the coast; he might be there for two months. He'd put off his departure to see Diane on her return, put it off as long as he could.

Paula said, "Anyway, Joe, she'll be all wrapped up in getting settled."

"Settled? Heck, it won't take her more'n a day, in that two by four place!"

On shipboard, homeward bound, Diane spoke frequently and with eagerness of that settling. It must not be done too quickly; they must try out the furniture in different places.

"Bill, we never measured to see if the washing machine will go into that corner of the kitchenette! You know, next to the frigidaire."

"Di, you're amazing!"

They'd been dancing and had gone out on deck; Diane was looking dreamily out over the dark water. And thinking of the washing machine.

"Why, Bill?" She turned to him with some surprise. He had said it so seriously.

He went on in the same sober tone. "I can admit now, Di, that I was actually afraid when I knew I'd fallen in love with you. You'd always had so much money to spend, you could go on having it, throw it to the winds, if you wanted to. You played around with a crowd like that. I swore I'd stay away from you—"

"And you couldn't!" Diane's fingers found his.

"No, I couldn't. It was stronger than all my convictions. But you can't know how relieved I was when I found you had a serious side, that you're really very practical. When you stood with me against living with your father, and about your allowance—"

She said quickly: "I wouldn't think of taking it! That wouldn't be beginning at scratch!"

"Well, there are not many girls who'd do it." A deep tenderness came to his face, and pride. "I shall never let you suffer from any want, darling!"

"Money won't mean anything to us, with what we have," she murmured dreamily.

He did not say again that she was amazing. He said: "We ought to get along very nicely on seventy-five a week. Put the extra fees I earn into the savings account. Mother'll help you off to a start; she's expert at making cash go a long way."

"You'll find I am very efficient, Mr. Arden. And I adore cooking. I took a full course at school. Oh, Bill!" She put her cheek against his arm. "I'm glad we're young! We've years ahead, to love each other!"

Their ship docked the next evening. They caught a night train for Grandharbor.

"Why don't we go on to mother's for breakfast?" Bill suggested in the taxi, the next morning.

"Oh, no! Straight to the apartment, Bill! We can stop in that store in the basement and buy coffee and things—"

"I was thinking the place would be in confusion."

"We won't mind; it'll be fun, finding things. If we were coming to some other city to live it would be like that and we couldn't do anything about it. Bill, I want to begin—" She curled her fingers over his arm.

He lifted them and kissed them. But when they opened their door, laughing because they were so loaded with their bundles and bags, they found their living room in order, the blue and gold hangings at the two windows drawn back, chairs, divan, cushions all charmingly arranged, books on the low table by the winged-back chair, a bowl of flowers on another table. "Say, Mother's got it all ready for us!" Bill said with warm appreciation. "That was darn nice of her!"

"Nice," Diane repeated slowly. She stood still, nuzzing her loaf of bread and her bag of coffee. Then she walked over to a chair and changed its position by a little shove of her foot.

Bill did not see it. He was carrying the eggs to safety. "Look here," he called to her.

She followed him, her lips tight against trembling. The small table in the dinette was spread with a cloth and there was a bowl of flowers in the center of it. The kitchen beyond showed the dishes arranged on the shelves, the tea kettle on the stove.

"I bet the frigidaire is full of food, that we didn't need to get a thing!" Bill put down his packages to open it. "Sure as anything! Here's bramble jam, even! Mother remembered my weakness for it."

Diane put her head down with an unnecessary thump. "Well, let's get some water boiling. I'm ravenous."

Bill filled the new tea kettle and set it over the stove before they went into the bedroom. There they found the twin maple beds made and spread with the new ivory covers, the ivory hangings drawn back at the window. Bill made no comment. He turned and caught Diane in his arms. "Happy, darling!"

"Yes." She dug her face into his shoulder. "Happy, AND MAD," she breathed into the tweed of his coat.

"Try it, Di." Bill urged of the bramble jelly, when later they sat at their breakfast. But she refused it. She looked away from it.

A clock, a wedding gift, chimed nine o'clock. Bill laughed. "Mother even wound the clock!" Then his eyes met and clung to Diane's. "I've got to leave you, honey. You said it—we begin today." He rose from his chair and went around the table to her.

Diane got to her feet. She clung to him for a moment. "Bill, it was so perfect!"

He tipped her face back to kiss it and saw tears on her dark lashes. "Why do you say it like that, Di? We're going to keep it that way!" There was some surprise in his reassurance; his eyes searched her face. "Afraid of being lonesome? Mother'll drop in some time during the day, probably. Give some of your friends a ring. Call Page—let her know we're back."

Diane drew away from his hold. She dashed her hand across her eyes. "Go along! I guess I'm jealous of your work—because you'll be thinking of that today, instead of me!"

"You can believe I will," Bill answered fervently. "This Staples case is going to mean a great deal to me, if I win it. Maybe a dual partnership. Dean hinted at that. I may have to work nights, darling, to make up for that week I took."

"I'll have your desk all ready for you tonight."

"Precious. Do you know that I love you?"

"I love you, Bill."

Members Attend State Sorority Convention

Mrs. Charles Hire and Mrs. Ralph Taylor as delegates, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Anne Jones, Mrs. J. Ervin Van Winkle, and Mrs. Condon Campbell, attended the Phi Beta Psi state convention held at the Seneca Hotel, Columbus, Sunday, beginning with registration at 10:30 in the morning.

This was followed with a luncheon at 12:30 P. M. with the Columbus chapter acting as hostesses.

Mrs. Ralph Davis, state president of the chapters, then in a few well chosen remarks, introduced the distinguished guests, who were state grand officers, and also the speakers for the afternoon, who were Dr. Veronica Arnagham of the National Cancer Clinic, who is research worker for Phi Beta Psi and Miss Helen Haughton of Columbus, who has been associated with the Franklin County Cancer Control Clinic for the past 25 years. Miss Adelaide Bock of Columbus made the response.

Dr. Arnagham spoke of her progress made in the research work and told of experiments being made using mice, who are infected with the germs, and treated in the hope of finding further treatment and cure of the dreaded disease. She stressed periodic checkups to be made by patients and said that they are being made there through the aid of the clinic. She closed with the statement: "That the one bright bright spot is that cancer is not hereditary."

Miss Haughton told of how in the past year "Eight Rays," made up of groups and organizations have been organized in Columbus to aid the Cancer Clinic Control with Iota Alpha Chapter, being the "Mary Scarlet Ray" and commended them for their help in purchasing wheel chairs, hospital beds, and other equipment to aid cancer patients in private homes. She urged other communities who do not have a cancer clinic, to aid in forming them.

A musical hour was enjoyed by the group, furnished by the "Harmonaires" of W.L.W. Cincinnati. After a brief intermission, a short business meeting was held with reports by each chapter represented and in totaling it was found that $3,367.82 was spent in charity during the past year, each giving the project used to raise the money.

The convention will be held in Celina next year with a member of the chapter there chosen as state chairman.

Son's Birthday Is Honored With Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. John Willard Morgan entertained at their home near Milledgeville on Friday evening at six-thirty with a dinner, honoring their young son, John Paul, who celebrated his second anniversary.

The sumptuous buffet dinner was served from one long table, using a pink and blue color scheme, centered with a huge birthday cake on which was inscribed "John Paul."

The highlight of the evening was the excitement of the small honor guest, as he opened each gift presented him, which was a prolonged happy hour, and he was finally assisted by his brother, Charles Grant Morgan.

The group, composed of both children and older folks, enjoyed games, group singing and taking rides in an old fashioned "buggy" drawn by a pony, the

A few days ago a man said the rheumatic pains in his arms and shoulders disappeared and now he can raise his arms above his head for the first time in years. He said the pains he used to have from this rheumatism were simply awful. Sometimes his knees and hips were stiff and sore, but the pains were mostly in the back of his neck and across his shoulders. Now, however, his suffering is entirely gone and he says the change is due to taking RHU-AID. "Oh! What relief!" states this man. "Why don't other rheumatic sufferers get RHU-AID?"

RHU-AID is a new formula. It contains Three Great Ingredients, so it is almost like taking three medicines in one. It goes right to the source of rheumatic aches and pains. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get RHU-AID. Sold by all Drug Stores throughout this section.—Adv.

Birthday Feted With Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Louis of New Holland honored the birthday of Mrs. Louis' brother, Mr. J. H. Chapman of Mt. Gilead, on Sunday, with a sumptuous three course dinner.

The guests were seated at one long table centered with a lovely birthday cake on an antique crystal cake stand.

Guests enjoying the pleasant affair in addition to the honor guest were Mrs. Chapman and their small daughter, Rita, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Chapman, Mrs. Lucille Leach of this city.

Afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Josef Louis, Mr. and Mrs. John Louis of New Holland, and Mr. Ernest Muzinski of Toledo.

Mother Plans Surprise Party

Mrs. Donald Parrett complimented her daughter, Jo Lynn, Friday evening, when a group of her young friends were invited to celebrate her fourteenth birthday anniversary, coming as a complete surprise.

A two course dinner was served at one large table, centered with a white birthday cake decorated with yellow candles.

flanked with tall yellow tapers on either side. Placecards marked each cover, and gardenias for their hair were given the guests as favors.

Following the dinner hour, lovely gifts were presented the honor guest, who expressed her appreciation for each. The group led by Jo Lynn were invited to the recreation room, where games, dancing and singing were enjoyed the remainder of the evening.

Guests making up the merry party were Joyce Crone, Dixie Lee Ellison, Margaret Ann Lemons, Betty Lou Bapst, Dianne Elliott and Patty Boso.

Meads Beat Jeff, 2-0, In Chillicothe Opener

Although the SCO League games at Washington C. H. and Jamestown were postponed because of muddy lots, the fans and teams braved stiff chilly winds and cloudy skies to raise the curtain on the baseball season at Chillicothe and Greenfield Sunday afternoon.

The Eagles were idle after the scheduled lid-lifter here with Lancaster's Glassmen was called off Saturday. The game booked for Jamestown between the town's Lions and Ashville Reds suffered the same fate.

Jeffersonville's Cubs were handed a 5-inning 2 to 0 shutout by the Meads at Chillicothe following opening day ceremonies of parades, music and speech-making.

Jeff Is Blanked

The highlight of the ceremonies at Chillicothe was the presentation of the 1946 SCO championship trophy to the Meads by Allen Lindsay, Washington C. H. furniture merchant and president of the league. The Mead drum and bugle corps led a parade that wound up with a swing around the park.

The Cubs, who last year won the Ohio semi-pro title and went to the quarter finals of the national tournament at Wichita, Kas., were held to a long single by Brown in the abbreviated game. Nine of them went down on strikeouts.

The Meads, who were blanked a week ago by the Glassmen, played errorless ball in the field and converted 4 hits into 2 runs to make amends at the expense of the Cubs. Both of the Mead runs were unearned.

The bright spot in the game for the Cubs were two spectacular defensive plays. One was a left-handed running catch by Yoder, who tossed to Prather to double Jeff off second. Sprinkle made two perfect throws to the plate from deep right field to third base. Although both were in good time, both runners slid under the receiver to safety.

GREENFIELD WINS

Greenfield's Athletics nosed out the Grove City Dodgers, 3 to 2, with a run scored in the ninth inning on an error.

Each team had scored two runs in the fourth—and that was all that either could get across until the last inning when Wilson scored on a muff by Davis that should have been an easy double play.

The game, which was delayed early by rain and finished on a soggy diamond, was a dual between Wilson, Greenfield's young pitcher, and Graves, Grove City's southpaw fireballer.

Reds Hit Skids To Next-To-Last In Double Defeat by Phillies

By JOE REICHLER

(By The Associated Press)

It began to look today like wise old Sam Bredon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, had been reading up on Redbird pennant history when he made that Harry Walker for Ron Northey deal with the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday.

If he did thumb through the baseball records books, he probably discovered that nearly every year the Cards won a flag they were aided by a refugee from Philadelphia who had joined the club earlier in the season.

Northey, a hard-hitting outfielder, made a brilliant debut yesterday when he slugged two home runs and a single and batted in four runs to lead the Cards to a 9-0 victory in the second game of a double header with the Braves at Boston.

Northey's big chat plus powerful shutout pitching by Harry (The Cat) Brecheen was chiefly responsible for the snapping of a nine-game losing streak by the Cards. The Braves hung the ninth straight defeat on the Redbirds 1-3 in the opener.

Reds Hit Toboggan

The Redlegs, from Cincinnati, in the midst of their worst slump of the season, have become neighbors of the last-place St. Louis Cardinals.

A twin-bill kayo Sunday at Philadelphia dumped the Reds into seventh place, four and a half games behind front-running Brooklyn. The Reds dropped yesterday's opener 5-3 and then were swamped 10-5 in the nightcap.

April Star Wins Pace

An Ohio-owned pacer that only a few years ago thrilled the packed grandstand at the Fayette County Fair today not only held a decision over some of his arch enemies of the track but also a new world record for a mile and a quarter after winning the $50,000 Golden West Pace at Ingleside, Calif.

It was April Star, the sensational wiggler owned by Roy Craig of Urbana, Ohio, that pounded down the stretch to victory in California's blue ribbon pacing classic Saturday before a crowd of 18,767 enthusiastic fans.

In going the mile and a quarter in 2:32, April Star broke the old record for the distance by clipping half a second off the time made by Blue Again last year.

April Star raced here as a two-year-old. In 1945 he was entered in a field of outstanding pacers for the last day of the Fair, but a downpour of rain kept them all in the barn.

SUMMONS

The unknown text of kin and heirs-at-law, devisees, legatees, assignees, executors, administrators and legal representatives of Mrs. Sarah Williams, deceased, will take notice that John P. Case, administrator of the estate of William F. Fowble, deceased, on the 2nd day of May, 1947, filed his petition in the Probate Court within and for the county of Fayette, and state of Ohio, in case No. 2083, alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay his debts and the charges of administering his estate; that he died intestate, seized of an undivided two-thirds (2/3) fee simple interest in the following described real estate situated in said county, to-wit:

"Situating in the City of Washington, County of Fayette and State of Ohio, and bounded and described as follows: Being Lot Number Two Hundred and Forty-two in The Washington Improvement Company's Addition to said City; for a more definite description reference is made to the plat of said addition in the Recorder's Office of said County."

The prayer of said petition is for a sale of the entire interest in said described real estate, and for such other and further relief to which he may be entitled.

The persons first above mentioned will further take notice that they have been made parties defendant to said petition and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 8th day of July, 1947.

'Quotient' Was Fatal Word for WCH Speller

Worthington Student Wins State Spelling Contest Title

"Quotient" proved the Waterloo of Billy Case, 8th Grade Conner School student, in the finals of the Record-Herald - Columbus Citizen spelling contest held Saturday afternoon in the Southern Hotel in Columbus.

Billy, who was the seventh to go down in the oral contest held in the afternoon, was the representative from the Fayette County schools. Norman Pope, eighth grade student who represented the city schools in the contest, met his downfall in the written examinations given during the morning.

Winner of the contest was 13-year-old Mary Sue Volpe who attends Worthington Jr. High. She spelled the final word, "acetylene" correctly, to win over 51 contestants from central Ohio. Billy was one of the 19 contestants who lost to Mary Lou in the oral finals after having successfully passed the written examination in the morning.

The afternoon oral bee was recorded and rebroadcast later in the afternoon, so the master of ceremonies, J. Edward Oyer said, the children could hear themselves over the air.

Billy was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Case, and his teacher, Mrs. Edith Brown, who teaches the eighth grade at Conner. Norman was accompanied by his teacher, Miss Ethel Arnold, who teaches eighth grade English in the high school.

City runner-up Mary Lou Shoop, sixth grade Central School pupil, attended the contest with Miss Lillian Taylor to observe the workings of the event so that she may be prepared for next year's contest.

The spellers and their teachers who accompanied them, had their traveling expenses to Columbus paid by the Record-Herald, while they were entertained for lunch in the Southern Hotel dining room by the Columbus Citizen.

John R. Huchison Summoned Sunday

John R. Huchison, 85, of the White Road, died at 7:30 A. M. Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mabel Ashbaugh in Bloomingburg, after an illness of two weeks.

Mr. Huchison had been a resident of this community for over 60 years.

In addition to his daughter, Mr. Huchison is survived by two sons, Harry, at home, and Elmer, of the White Road.

Funeral services will be held at 2 P. M. Wednesday at his late residence on White Road. Rev. Guy B. Tucker will be in charge. Friends may call at the residence after 5 P. M. Monday.

Burial will be in the Washington C. H. Cemetery under the direction of Kirkpatrick and Sons Funeral Home.

Several Arrested By Police Here

Police picked up a number of persons Saturday night and Sunday, for various offenses.

Robert M. Dixon, Leesburg, was cited for reckless operation, for allegedly driving 60 miles on South Fayette Street.

Ivan Walker, Dayton, was cited for failing to have an operator's license.

Andy Stewart, 54, city, was taken into custody and listed for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Clifford French and Howard French, charged with disorderly conduct, each posted $25 bond for their appearance.

All were to be arraigned in police court before Judge R. H. Sites, Monday.

First Program Of Music Week Is Presented

A May Musicales was presented at the First Baptist Church Sunday sponsored by the Martha Washington Chapter of the DAR as the first in a series of programs observing National Music Week.

Audrey Jean Scholl opened the program playing Prelude, Opus 28, No. 7 and Prelude, Opus 28, No. 22, by Chopin. The Triple Trio sang "A Thought Like Music" by Brahms. Dixie Lee Ellison sang "Italian Street Song" by Herbert. The Triple Trio followed singing "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell. Jean Miller played "Sonata in D—First Movement" by Haydn. "My Johann" by Greig was the next number sung by the Triple Trio.

Mary Twining sang a solo, "Villanelle" by Dell 'Acqua. The Triple Trio followed singing "I Heard a Forest Praying" by De Rose. Ronnie Clickner sang "Come to the Fair" by Martin. The Triple Trio also sang two Romberg numbers, "Serenade" and "Softly, As in a Morning Sunrise."

Jean Miller played a piano solo, "Chorale" by Franck. The Triple Trio closed the program singing "Big Brown Bear" by Mana-Zucca and "Three Blind Mice," arranged by Riegger.

Members of the Triple Trio are Patty Long, Mary Twining and Sally Streater, first sopranos; Joan Kellough, Cynthia Gage and Lora Lee Ensen, second sopranos, and Cindy Harper, Helen Cameron and Peggy Miller, altos. Miss Mary Elizabeth Browning directs the group. The pianists are the students of Mrs. Robert E. Willis. Miss Ellison is the student of Mrs. Stanley Paxson.

Radio Officers Urged For Brazilian Planes

RIO DE JANEIRO—(AP)—Forty U. S. flight radio officers stationed here, motivated by recent air disasters, plan to ask congress to require trained radio officers on all international flights of commercial airlines as a passenger safety precaution.

This group, headed by Fred Irons, of Decatur, Ga., claims that a trend to eliminate flight radio officers removes the main safety factor on international air routes, especially those over seas, mountains and foreign territory unequipped with safety measures equal to those within the United States.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is something to "unblock" your lower intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pile right now. Take as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits all 5 of Nature's own digestive juices to mix better with your food. You get genuine relief from indigestion so you can feel really good again. Buy Carter's Pile today. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

Annual Meeting Of Music Clubs Opens May 12

Over 250 Clubs To Be Represented In Convention

Washington C. H. will be represented at the 29th annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs, to be held in Dayton, May 12 to 14, inclusive, with 250 delegates from local music organizations from all over Ohio in attendance. Headquarters will be at the Billmore Hotel, Mrs. Freeman T. Eagleson, Columbus, state president said Monday.

Some of the special features of the convention will be: a Youth Session with Mrs. W. M. Garrigues, Ashland, State Chairman, presiding followed by a concert to be given by the Dayton Junior Philharmonic Orchestra, Janice Murray, Washington C. H. soprano, Ohio State University School of Music, district winner and Julian Patrick, baritone, Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, district and Lavette Contest winner in the recent Ohio and District student musician auditions sponsored by the Federation; Folk Dancers presented by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Robinson, Schwartz School of Dancing, Dayton; a Lecture-Recital by Katherine Turney Garten, Indianapolis and Mary Blue Morris, pianist of Dayton; a Music in Hospitals Council, Mrs. H. K. Mouser, Marion, state chairman, presiding, a musicale by the Cincinnati Conservatory String Quartet; a Choral Program, Mrs. Homer Kendall, Alliance, Chairman, presiding with the Sanctus Choir of Toledo, the Dayton Music Appreciation Chorus and the Dayton Music Club Chorus taking part; a Recital by Sidney Harth, violinist of Cleveland, winner in the 1947 Ohio and Eastern Region National Federation Young Artist Contests and a concert by James Leffler, member of the Artist Faculty of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

A tea and musicale honoring Life Members will be held at the Dayton Woman's Club with Virginia Howe, soprano, Cincinnati College of Music and John Alexander, Cincinnati Conservatory, soloists and the Dayton Music Club Instrumental Trio presenting the program.

An interesting innovation will be the demonstration of recreational music by the Delaware Junior Music Club directed by Mrs. Lynn Rohrbough, Delaware, state chairman.

Emphasis will be given to American Music, Miss Eunice Lea Kettering, Ashland, Chairman with displays of traveling libraries which contain contemporary American works and unpublished manuscripts of Ohio composers. Speakers to be heard during the convention include: Mrs. Royden

THE OLD HOME TOWN

J. Keith, Chicago, newly elected president of the National Federation; Dr. Hazel Nohavec Morgan, Cleveland; national chairman of music in schools and colleges; Mrs. R. A. Herbruck, vice-president of the eastern region; Miss Edith Keller, state supervisor of music; Mrs. E. R. Arn, state junior counselor, and others. Mrs. Gailard Fuller, Loudonville will report the National Biennial Convention recently held in Detroit which was attended by over 100 Ohio delegates and members.

Mrs. F. O. Pansing, Dayton, is general chairman and Mrs. R. A. Herbruck, program chairman for the convention with the cooperation of the affiliated music clubs of Dayton.

Driver Is Released For Appearance Later

Taken before Judge H. M. Rankin, Saturday, Johnny Boldman, Bloomingburg, taken into custody by Sheriff Orland Hays, Friday night, and held for driving under influence of liquor, was released on bond of $150 for his appearance at a later date.

Boldman sustained severe injuries when his automobile was wrecked against a concrete abutment of a culvert along the Eymann farm on the Chillicothe Road.

Second Tax Payments Due

County Treasurer Opens Books

County Treasurer Charles A. Fabb Monday opened the books for collection of the second installment of the 1946 real estate taxes, which are now due.

It is expected that a great many persons will pay their taxes immediately instead of waiting until later during the collection period, which ends June 20.

Inasmuch as a great many persons paid both installments of taxes at the previous collection, the total amount taken in during the present collecting period will be considerably under that previously made.

National music week will be celebrated until Sunday, May 11. Governor Thomas J. Herbert, in his proclamation for National Music Week, said, "The keynote of this observance will be, 'music is especially needed — now!'" which was the theme of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

The public has been invited to attend this performance, for which there is no charge.

Mrs. Elnora Brandon Dies Early Monday

Mrs. Elnora Brandon, 74, colored, died at her home at 739 Gregg Street, at 8:30 A. M. Monday after a serious illness of one month. She had been in failing health for two years.

Mrs. Brandon had been a resident of this community for over 30 years. She was a member of the Second Baptist Church. She was preceded in death by her husband, Albert, in 1942.

She is survived by seven nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the home of her niece, Mrs. Walter Loving, 619 Rawlings Street, any time after Monday evening.

Funeral arrangements, under the direction of the Gerstner Funeral Home, are still incomplete.

Bruce W. Hidy Dies Monday Morning

Bruce W. Hidy, 53, died suddenly at 8 A. M. Monday at his home at 422 Western Avenue, after he had been in failing health for two weeks.

Mr. Hidy was born and raised in this community and worked as a truck driver. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the VFW.

He is survived by his widow, Hazel; his father, Allison Hidy, of Washington C. H.; three children, Evelyn, 18, at home, and twins, Helen and Howard, 13, at home; and a brother, Omar Hidy of Dayton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 P. M. Wednesday at the Gerstner Funeral Home.

The VFW will hold military services at the cemetery for Mr. Hidy. The membership has been asked to report to the club rooms at 1 P. M. Wednesday.

Friends may call at the late residence after 10 A. M. Tuesday. Burial will be in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.
